

PARTNERSHIP OPPORTUNITIES

Did you know that more than half of American children carry at least one (often more) chronic health diagnoses? Solving these problems requires engagement from all sectors of society.

Documenting Hope partners with companies that believe in our mission and have similar values and understand that corporations can play a vital role in driving positive change and progress for our kids. Our partners contribute more than money; they often contribute ideas, in-kind support and social influence.

The vision of Documenting Hope is to create a world where parents and professionals have the essential knowledge, resources, and support to raise healthy and vibrant children in the modern world. We believe that it will take education, outreach, innovative research and creative cultural strategies to see this change through. Partnering with us enables health-centered organizations to benefit from our active network of like-minded grassroots followers. If this sounds good to you, let's team up and get kids healthy again!

OUR WHY

54% OF AMERICAN CHILDREN HAVE A DIAGNOSED CHRONIC CONDITION. WE ARE NOT OKAY WITH THIS.

WE BELIEVE OUR KIDS CAN GET BETTER AND AIM TO PROVE IT SCIENTIFICALLY.

Asthma?
Not anymore.
(ditto for
his ADHD
and other diagnoses)

Read Kyle's story

At age 5, Kyle had numerous debilitating diagnoses including: ADHD, asthma, Sensory Processing Disorder and life-threatening food allergies. Through integrative medicine and a holistic lifestyle, Kyle has shed all of his labels. Instead of a life filled with medicines and doctor visits, Kyle is a thriving 12-year old with a fully functioning mind. He makes straight A's, has lots of friends, and creates amazing art. Kyle is healed! Read Kyle's Story HERE

His family spent $15,000 on doctors who could not help. But changing his diet did.

Read George's story

Until 2nd grade, George had been an excellent student. Then, mysteriously and suddenly, George developed a host of troubling symptoms. He was diagnosed with dysgraphia (an inability to write coherently), anxiety, depression, obsessive compulsive disorder, and oppositional defiant disorder. He completely lost his math skills. Eventually, he could not even attend class. Doctors shrugged their shoulders. They simply couldn't help alleviate George's many symptoms. Thankfully, his parents took his healing into their own hands with diet and lifestyle changes. And that has made all the difference. Read more about George HERE

Let's just say his doctor
didn't expect straight A's.

Read Ben's story

At a 3 year old well visit, Ben's pediatrician diagnosed him with Pervasive Development Disorder, an autism spectrum disorder. His mother was told, "You have to find a way to wrap your head around this. A kid like him, if we are lucky, he might one day be a janitor." Within 5 years, Ben healed his underlying medical conditions, caught up developmentally and began to thrive. Ben is now diagnosis-free, and killing it in middle school. Read Ben's story HERE

"When you tell a person that there's no hope; that their child will always be this way; that there is nothing they can do about it; that's not science: that's a misuse of statistics."
